Know and Welcome Adults

The Christian Endeavor society is most useful to the endeavoring and participation of active young members if adults do not commonly threaten its meetings. But . . .

Several events each year should be arranged, to which adults and particularly former active members of the society are urged to come.

Your youth leaders will find opportunities in this meeting to report on the society's recent progress and on its plans for the future. An adult counselor will tell the visitors how they can "talk up" Christian Endeavor as dynamic, practical, and effective in recruiting and training youth for church work and community action.

Don't think you have to rearrange your meeting to center on adult interests. Many visitors would prefer to discover what the meeting of today presents and how its discussions draw out the active members' point of view. "Homecoming Days" in your society should present Christian Endeavor as it is today—full of life and promise, a place in which Christian young people think, speak, and act as churchmen. — B. H. D.

The 1968 Albert H. Diebold Awards

TOP AWARD WINNERS

FIRST AWARD — INDIVIDUALS — $200

Barbara Ann Danzeisen, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

For her project "Finding God through Worship"

FIRST AWARD — SOCIETIES — $200

Christian Endeavor Societies

New Cumberland Christian Church, New Cumberland, West Virginia

For their project "Sing-Out, New Cumberland Christian Endeavor"

FIRST AWARD — UNIONS — $125

Evansville District Christian Endeavor Union

Evansville, Indiana

For its float "Young People Come to Church"

Winning youth, Christian Endeavor societies, and local unions in Christian Endeavor's 1968 Christian Youth Witness Program were announced April 5 by Rev. Christian A. Tirre, executive secretary of the International Society.

The Albert H. Diebold Awards, in addition to cash, as shown, include an attractive plaque to all winners, plus honor certificates to all other qualified entrants. Awards will be presented locally as arranged cooperatively by the International Society with Christian Endeavor leaders and/or local church leaders.

Individual winners entered an article, editorial, talk, poster, black and white photograph, or a cartoon. Entries had to be developed, written, or released after February 15, 1967, and completed by February 15 of this year. Entries were judged on the basis of originality, excellence of literary or art form used, Christian witness to the community, and overall effectiveness in implementing the purpose of the program.

Societies and unions sponsored and reported completed Christian witness activities begun after February 15 last year. Each activity was evaluated on the basis of group participation, goals established or achieved, Christian witness, and overall effectiveness.

Judges for individual entries were Mrs. Eleanor Searle Whitney, Christian lecturer and singer, and Dr. Kenneth L. Wilson, editor of CHRISTIAN HERALD. Society and union entries were judged by Harold N. Bogart, Ford Motor Company executive; Rev. S. George Bovill, minister of Williston Congregational Church, Portland, Maine; and Dr. E. Bruce Jacobs, Goodwill Industries chaplain, Columbus, Ohio.

Barbara Ann Danzeisen Wins Individual Honors

To take top honors Barbara planned an ambitious project on the theme "Finding God through Worship." She is 16 years old, a senior at Northeast High School, and president of the Senior High Society of Rhawnhurst Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

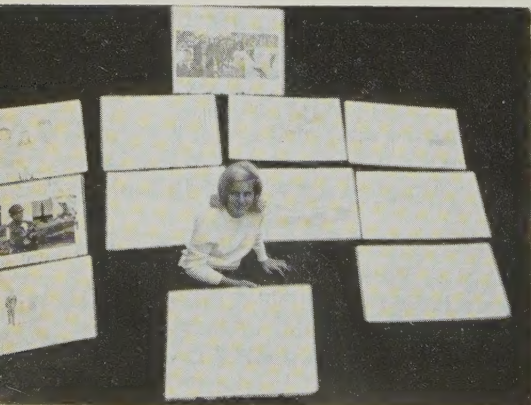

Her project centered around the use of 12 posters encouraging worship which she prepared and rotated weekly over a period of three months in stores in the Philadelphia area.

She also included a talk "The God Mockers" and an editorial "The God Mockers — Not Alone Guilty." Barbara spoke at her own church on January 28 and at Christian Endeavor banquets February 2 and 3 and at another church February 4. The editorial was printed December 14 in five suburban papers, along with articles about her efforts. She also distributed 500 pamphlets.

Barbara decided to undertake the project last May. She completed the 12 posters during the summer and in September lined up the stores where they were displayed. Then she began on her editorial which is concerned with those who attend church rather than worshipping, "the true God mockers." The most time consuming part of the project was the rotating of the posters, which took two to three hours each week.

Barbara gives a number of results including this personal testimony: "When I began in May I was a Christian, but when I had finished, I was a Christian who had finally given her life entirely to Christ and who was truly being led to work for Him."

SECOND AWARD — INDIVIDUALS — $125

Lynn McKnight, Parrottsville, Tennessee

For her article and talk "Hometown, U.S.A."

A student at Johnson Bible College in Kimberlin Heights and sponsor of the Junior Society at Northport Christian Church of Newport, Lynn is 22.

She gave her talk at her church February 4, before the college speech department February 8, and at the Tri-County Singspiration February 10. Her article was published January 25 in the NEWPORT PLAIN TALK and January 26 in the TRI-COUNTY NEWS of Sevierville.

She says, "I believe that 'Hometown, U.S.A.', will be effective and I sincerely pray that some of my neighbors and fellow Americans will be stirred to action and will join with me in accepting the name of Christ, praying and seeking God's face, turning from our wicked ways that He might hear from heaven and heal our land."

In her article and talk she says, "My dear friends, the enemy in reality is you . . . the citizens of America. You are the enemy or at least the creating force of the destroyer, Apathy. * * * Gradually, you have caused America to crumble. * * * You, Mr. and Mrs. American, must rebuild your country!"

In "Hometown, U.S.A." Lynn quoted II Chronicles 7:14 and closed by saying, "You, Mr. and Mrs. American, have within your power to either defeat or join the enemy, Apathy. The decision is yours."

THIRD AWARD — INDIVIDUALS — $50

Eugene Bittinger, Angola, New York

For his talk, "Jesus Christ Is Lord in an Expanding World and in a Complex Society"

Eugene, who is 15, is assistant lookout committee chairman of the Senior High Society at First Church of Evans, Derby. He gave his sermon February 4 at the 9:15 and 11:00 services of his church.

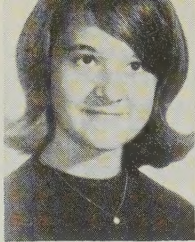

Eugene says, "In our complex society we have fallen into a daily routine and have left out Jesus Christ. When even we are enjoying ourselves, we never stop to think for a minute and render a thank you for all the blessings we have received. * * * In our complex society, we have the task of living together. In our own families we have to learn to get along with each and every member. * * * Christ wants everybody in this world to serve Him, to bring others to know Him as their Saviour; He does not want you to serve Him part of the time, but all of it."

Richard Ingraham

Kristine Langston

Bernadine Lee

INDIVIDUAL RUNNER-UP WINNERS—$25 EACH

(listed alphabetically)

Christina Carlson, Derby, New York

For her talk "Jesus Christ Is Lord in a Committed Life"

Youngest of the individual winners, Christina is 11 and president of the Junior Society of First Church of Evans. In her talk, presented at both morning services on Christian Endeavor Day at her church, she says, "We can answer Christ's call by making a decision to surrender our will to Him. This is a personal decision. No one can make it for you."

Betsy Clippinger, Covington, Ohio

For her talk "Jesus Christ Is Lord in a Complex Society"

Betsy, who is 15, is vice-president of the Senior Society of Covington United Presbyterian Church. In her talk given at church February 4, she states, "Christ has an answer to all of these problems and challenges * * * Imagine what Christian love could do worldwide."

Richard D. Ingraham, Omaha, Nebraska

For his talk "Youth Questions Hypocrisy!"

Richard, who is 17, is a member of the Senior High Fellowship, Youth and Adult Choirs, and the English Handbell Choir of Lowe Avenue Presbyterian Church. In his talk at his church January 28, he recalls that Christ had much to say about hypocrisy (Matthew 23). He says today's double standards are a real problem for Christian youth.

Kristine Langston, Covington, Ohio

For her talk "Jesus Christ Is Lord in a Truly Christian Church"

Kristine, who is 15 and treasurer of the Senior Society, gave her talk February 4 at Covington United Presbyterian Church. She said, "If Christ is Lord of the church, what is the truly Christian Church? * * * Every member has the same responsibilities and the same benefits. In a truly Christian Church, there is sincere worship of God."

Bernadine Lee, Washington, D. C.

For her talk on Missions

Bernadine, who is 21, is a graduate of Cameron Junior College, Lawton, Oklahoma. She now attends Capital View Baptist Church where she is president of the Christian Endeavor Society. In her talk presented at a youth meeting, she said, "Christ needs and is calling for consecrated leadership for this our troubled nation."

Four Societies Join Forces To Earn First Award

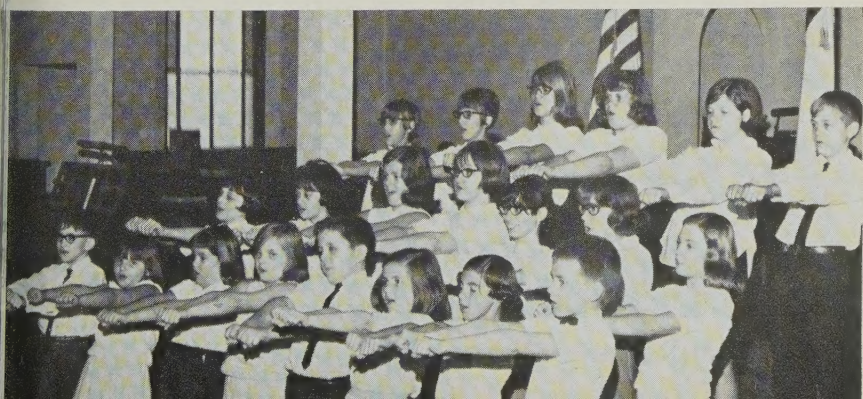

The four Christian Endeavor societies of the New Cumberland Christian Church, New Cumberland, West Virginia, will receive $200 in cash for their project which includes 13 presentations to audiences totaling over 10,000.

"Sing-Out, New Cumberland Christian Endeavor" has been challenging its audiences to stand up and be counted as loyal Americans and God-fearing citizens. "Sing-Out" is presently composed of 25 members, ranging in age from 8 to 17, from the 3rds, Junior, and High School societies of the church, with the four sponsors being active members of the Adult Society.

The group began in July 1967 with only 10 participating, but interest rapidly increased. Performances have been given at Christian Endeavor rallies, church services, camps, and other activities in West Virginia and Ohio. Largest attendance was at a camp rally in October when 280 were present.

The Endeavorers worked hard learning the different songs (such as "What Color Is God's Skin?" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic"), as well as perfecting their performance, emphasizing stance, united movement, and smiling faces.

The total program time is 40 min-

SECOND AWARD — SOCIETIES — $150

Senior Christian Endeavor Society
First Christian Church, Harlingen, Texas

For its float "O Worship the King"

The 25 members of this high school group entered a float in the community Christmas parade and took first honors in the church division for a $50 prize. The float depicted a church with children inside at worship, carrying out the message "Worship at the church of your choice."

Mrs. R. H. Fuqua, sponsor, says this annual project faced special difficulties in 1967. Because of the hurricane and floods in September school was delayed three weeks and many of the youth helped in the clean-up. This gave less time for preparation for the parade December 8 and, to top it all off, when the float was almost completed there was a downpour which ruined the work already done so the group had to begin again.

The parade was viewed by 20,000 people, mostly youth, as well as untold thousands on television. Dick Ross was float chairman and Katharine Wetzel is president.

According to the pastor, W. F. Davis, these youth carry their witness to the community by many acts of service as well as worshipping regularly in their own church.

THIRD AWARD — SOCIETIES — $100

Senior Christian Endeavor Society
Northbrook United Brethren Church, Cincinnati, Ohio

For its Youth Revival

To win third place honors the teen-agers of this society began working well in advance of their youth revival November 24-26. The group includes approximately 14 high school youth.

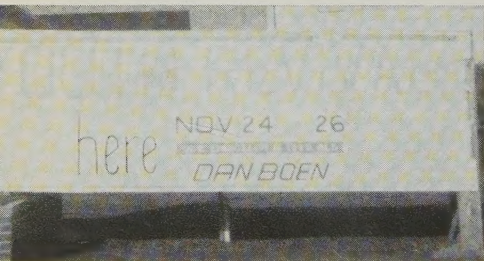

Posters were distributed to local stores, invitation letters sent to other churches, prayer meetings held twice a week in homes, skits presented on their weekly radio program on Station WAKW, and teams made house-to-house visitation.

The evangelist was Dan Boen, 17-year-old high school senior from Kenton, Ohio. Special music added to the meetings and refreshments were served each evening.

The president of the group is William Riehle. Rev. Carey Knittle is the pastor.

Cincinnati teen-agers placed this fifteen foot sign in front of their church and made a house-to-house visitation to promote their youth revival.

These St. Louis youth participated in the program at Mary Ridge Convalescent Home.

Society Runner-Up Winners $25 each

(Listed alphabetically by state)

Junior Christian Endeavor Society First Baptist Church of West Washington, Washington, D.C.

For its project stressing Bible reading

A number of activities made up the project planned by this small group of Juniors under the direction of their sponsor, Mrs. Vivian M. Saunders. In June 1967 the children enrolled as comrades of the Quiet Hour. They joined the Bible-A-Month Club, distributed Bible reading lists, secured gifts for the American Bible Society, and sponsored a poster contest in connection with Christian Endeavor Week 1968.

Young People's Christian Endeavor Society Wurdack Memorial Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Missouri

For its project of monthly witness and service

This group of approximately 10 youth starting in February 1967 set up a plan for each month of the year to witness for Christ by serving others. Community needs were surveyed and plans made to help orphans, senior citizens, and a local rescue mission. The pastor, Rev. Herbert Links, says, "In our church we have evidence that our teen-agers are confessing Christ, serving Him, and are loyal and in close fellowship with Christ's people." Mrs. Helen Norrenberns is sponsor.

Junior High Christian Endeavor Society Westminster Presbyterian Church, Roanoke, Virginia

For its project observing Christian Endeavor Week

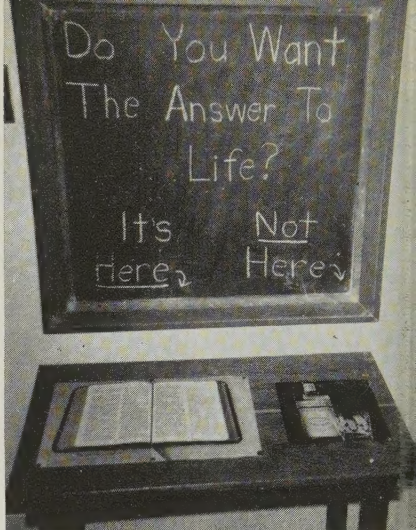

A full week of activities was sponsored by these Junior High youth in observance of Christian Endeavor's

1968 birthday. Included were a poster contest, visitation day, mission night, prayer meeting, fellowship and entertainment night for the whole congregation, and a special play and worship service February 4. Robert Clark is president and Rev. William B. Gold is interim pastor.

Youth Academy — United Presbyterian Christian Endeavor First Presbyterian Church, Dunellen, New Jersey

For its float "Wishing for a Better World"

The Youth Academy's float entered in the Halloween parade October 31 took first place in the Group division. Fifteen youth worked over 150 hours making the more than 2,000 flowers which covered the float. Carrying out its theme, there was a wishing wheel with a cross on top and five youth who sang, accompanied by guitar.

Senior Christian Endeavor Society Redmond Christian Church, Redmond, Oregon

For its evangelism project

Beginning October 1, when this high school group of 23 members voted to participate in the 1968 Christian Youth Witness Program, the five-member planning committee met every week for two months. Members visited 31 families new to the community to distribute copies of the New Testament and urge church attendance. The climax came February 4 with a potluck dinner followed by a youth rally attended by 160. Bob Howden is society president.

utes. The script emphasizes spiritual values as well as patriotism. The program closes with the singing of "God Bless America" and is handled entirely by the youth (except for the pianist). The goal of this year-long project was to help remind Americans of the blessings of the Almighty. Members practice every Sunday afternoon for an hour and a half and are learning to give enthusiastic witness for their faith as they speak and sing before large audiences. The four sponsors — Mrs. Earl Tice, Mrs. Bill Staley, Mrs. Paul Hudson, and Orel E. Fields — feel that these youth are being trained in accordance with Christian Endeavor's purposes. Minister of the church is Rev. Allen Fields.

Evansville District Union

Wins $125

"How our young people witnessed 50,000 people!" was the caption of the scrapbook telling of the project of the Evansville (Indiana) District Union which took first place in the Union category.

The union, under the leadership of President Terry Gamblin (18), planned a float for the city's 46th Annual Fall Festival. The Float Committee began work in September. They decided to use the theme "Young People—Come to Church." In preparing the float 23 Endeavorers worked hard the week before the parade October 7. The float in red and white depicted a church with open doors, with several youth gathered outside (see cover of this issue). A group of 50 Endeavorers representing the nine churches in the union marched in a unit following the float, wearing Christian Endeavor hats. Cheryl Tenbarge acted as song leader. This annual affair drew 50,000 to watch the parade, so union leaders "were thrilled with the challenge of our first endeavor as a union to witness to the masses."

SECOND AWARD — UNIONS — $75

St. Louis Christian Endeavor Union,, St. Louis, Missouri

For its Easter Sunrise Service

The annual Easter Sunrise Service, sponsored by the St. Louis Union for 38 years, has become an outstanding youth project. Every Easter 1,500 to 2,000 worshippers gather at Tower Grove Park. Participants and those who plan the program, as well as those who attend, represent all churches, a truly interdenominational emphasis.

For the 1967 service on March 26, Rev. Russell Boettcher of Maplewood Congregational Church spoke. Radio Station KMOX broadcast the entire program and later donated a half-hour to tell of the work of Christian Endeavor. The Tower Grove Citadel Salvation Army Band and the Roosevelt High School 100-voice A Cappella Choir participated. The offering after expenses was used for evangelical work. Vernon E. Stefanic is union president.

THIRD AWARD — UNIONS — $50

Dallas District Christian Endeavor Union, Dallas, Texas

For its project "Praise Out"

The Stone Street Mall in downtown Dallas, where the "hippies" have staged sit-ins and other demonstrations in the past year, was the scene of the city-wide monthly Dallas District event November 20 in the form of a "Praise Out." The purpose was to bring church youth in contact with the hippies, according to Cynthia Boone, vice-president and program chairman. The group sang patriotic and spiritual songs led by Leonard Navvare, accompanied by Harold Myrick. Small groups talked to those who stopped to take part or listen. James F. McMaster, Jr., is union president. Sixty Endeavorers participated.

Missouri Youth Hear Christian Athletes

An unusual youth rally was held March 17 in Louisiana, Missouri. Sponsored by the local Ministers Association and the district and state Christian Endeavor unions, the rally brought together youth from the area and from as far away as St. Louis.

Junior and Senior Highs met at the First Christian Church with Juniors having a special rally at the Methodist Church. The program featured ten outstanding athletes from the University of Missouri, all active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, plus eight young women from the university.

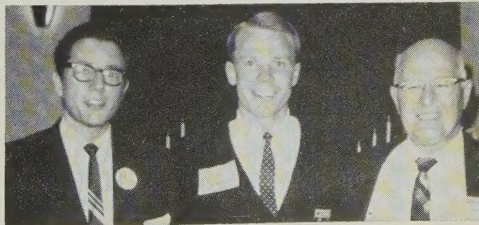

Singing was led by two of the athletes. Following the showing of a film on the 1960 Olympics, there were huddle (discussion) groups led by the athletes, a sack lunch, a panel discussion, and a candlelight service which closed the meeting.

Time to eat was also time to talk individually with the athletes, an important part of the program. RIGHT — Jim Larsen (center), president of the group, with the host pastor, Mr. Bromley of the Christian Church, and Walter Schuchardt (right), Missouri executive secretary.

Jim Larsen, president of the Missouri F.C.A., said, "As a young Christian I find the greatest joy possible in witnessing for Jesus Christ." Jim is a member of the track team.

Steve Kemperman, Junior College All-American end and now offensive end for Mizzou, is vice-president of the group. He said, "I am planning a coaching career upon graduation from the university and through my faith in Jesus Christ I hope to confront the youth I coach with Christianity."

Secretary and treasurer Craig Endicott, half miler, stated, "It is amazing how much a person can gain spiritually through contact with other Christians. * * * How gratifying it is to lead youth rallies, speak to church groups, and talk with young athletes about Jesus Christ, your personal Lord and Saviour."

JUNIOR CE MEETINGS Editor

Beginning with the third quarter 1968 issue of JUNIOR CE MEETINGS, Carol A. Ferntheil of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the editor of this quarterly for children. Mrs.

Ferntheil, a graduate of the University of Cincinnati with a B.A. degree, is active in Westwood-Cheviot Church of Christ where she has taught Juniors and directed children's church. She and her husband, Albert, a sales representative for Standard Publishing, have three children ages 4-10. As a free lance writer Mrs. Ferntheil has a background of writing and editing which well prepares her for this new responsibility.

Adopted Four . . .

The book Adopted Four and Home One More by Helen Louise West has recently been released. It has a foreword by Daniel A. Poling. Mrs. West is a Christian Endeavor writer as is her husband, Rev. Clyde E. West of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Missouri. The book is a personal account of the family's experiences. Copies may be ordered from the International Society at $3.50.

Karate for Christ

A group of students from Tennessee Temple Schools has established a team which travels throughout the country giving judo and karate demonstrations to reach teen-agers for Jesus Christ. Anyone interested may contact Mike Crain, Box T-161, Chattanooga.

In Memoriam—Dr. Allan J. Blair

On April 22 Dr. Allen J. Blair, International Society and World's Union leader, died at his home in Glen Rock, New Jersey, following recent hospitalization. Dr. Blair had served continuously on the Finance and Executive Committees of the International Society since 1948 and as Finance Committee chairman since 1959. At the time of his death he was also on the Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee of the World's Union and chairman of its Finance and Nominating Committees. He was vice-president of the International Society 1957-1961 and president of the New Jersey Union 1945-1947.

Funeral services were held April 25 at First Presbyterian Church of Passaic where he was an active leader. Dr. Blair was president of Blair and Aldous, plumbing, heating, and ventilating contractors. He held an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Bloomfield College. Dr. Blair is survived by his wife Otilie, a son William who was associated with him in business, and a daughter Elaine, as well as 11 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

AS I SEE IT

Looking Across The President's Desk

By ELWOOD DUNN

DR. ALLAN J. BLAIR

Allan J. Blair was a Pillar. He was a pillar in business, church, and society. He was a pillar in the Christian Endeavor movement. He was stalwart, stable, far-sighted, and deeply loyal to his convictions.

What an extensive void would be created if all his influences were suddenly removed!

I knew him best through his Christian Endeavor activities. Only Divine memory can record the extent of his powerful influences for good in his movement. He held numerous offices in the organization. At his death he was chairman of the Finance Committees of both the World's Union and the International Society of Christian Endeavor as well as being a member of both Executive Committees.

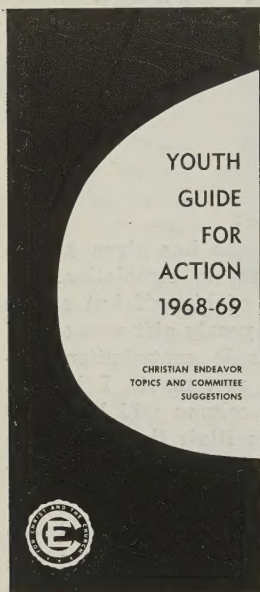

Though unafraid of venturing, Allan Blair had a passion for living within the income of an organization. He led the Finance Committee of the International Society toward an operation that was paid for by the yearly income. He was instrumental in helping retire some of the long-standing indebtedness of the Society. He dreamed of the movement being completely free of debt and operating in the black. Somewhere may the Lord raise up his spiritual descendants to give as he has given and to carry his dream to completion. He not only gave of himself but of his means, for his yearly gift was one of the largest single contributions received by the movement. I hope a reader of this column will be so inspired by Allan Blair that he or she will rise up to help fill the void created by his passing.

My last conversation with him was by phone during his illness and was about his future relationship with Christian Endeavor. Even then he was looking ahead and planning for his part in that future, pending his return to health. Among his very last acts before the call to higher service was the drafting and signing of a check for the work of Christian Endeavor International.

At this writing I have just returned from a meeting of the Administration Committee of the International Society where we were again made aware of how much we depended upon this servant of God. This quiet Pillar of God was deeply embedded in our warmest affections and thus lives on to inspire others to emulate his ways, for he was "steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord."
